

Valentine's Day

by Roman Singh

Valentine's Day is celebration for everyone Today Valentine's is basically considered as a day for lovers expressing their affection with greetings and gifts, but there is also a forgotten story behind it. After the Roman Emperor Claudius II outlawed marriage, Saint Valentine continued to marry men and women in secret. When Valentine's actions were discovered, Claudius ordered that he be put to death. People had interesting response when they were asked if they like Valentine's Day "Today on the Valentine's Day people have got different experience with them some of them have plans and I am just going to watch Netflix," said Dean Rollins "Yeah I don't mind, this just gives you another reason to enjoy with family, showing love and every day is a valentine's day, it doesn't needs to be a certain day that we doing such a thing," said Eric He a student at Algonquin College I even got my daddy a present, and it's in a red envelope," said Serana Herilan, 8 years old daughter of Eric He, she also say's yesterday at school they made gift cards and for that they got candy. "Yes, because I am happy my husband always gives me a little surprise, he loves surprise I don't know what he has planned for today. Valentine's Day is for everybody, share the love," said Veronica Delmundo visitor at Algonquin College, for Nursing course The employees working at a restaurant and store at Algonquin college says "Of course I like valentine's day but not this time because I had a breakup yesterday," said Aakrit Dey chefs assistant at the pasta place "Besides class normally I buy little things for multiple people, I don't have a plan for today, no special movements for me," said Daniela Fuentes, employee at connections store Shopping store and restaurants are preparing theme of Valentine's Day to increase their sales "We make garlic pizza it is specially for today and we made it special for the